

Monthly Training Grant Breakfasts, Spring 2021
Selected Wednesdays at 9:00 AM (unless otherwise noted)

January 20

Speaker: Elaine Hernandez, Department of Sociology, Indiana University

Topic: "The Effect of In Utero Exposure to the 1918 Influenza Pandemic on Child Mortality in the United States"

February 10

Speaker: Ana Bento, School of Public Health, Indiana University

Title: "The role of age and sex in COVID-19 transmission during the early months of the epidemic in China"

March 10

CTRD predoctoral trainees swapping roles, now in flash talk format. What better way to promote broad thinking and understanding than to learn to present someone else's research? Our 2020-21 predoctoral trainees will present short talks at the first CTRD breakfast by presenting each other's work. Come learn what these amazing young scientists have been up to: Elizabeth George, Eric Navarro, Tessa Steiniche, & Katie Talbott.

April 7

Two half-hour research talks from our awesome postdocs:

Speaker: Dr. Alex Bentz

Topic: "Experimental competition induces immediate and lasting effects on the neurogenome in free-living female birds"

Speaker: Dr. Jess Cusick

Topic: "Maternal stress and the maternal gut microbiome have interactive, sex-specific effects on offspring development and behavior"
